ROARING TOWARD BAY COLONY—A massive tornado moves across the Bay of St. Louis late Tuesday afternoon toward Bay Colony subdivision after damaging the Seube Street residence of the Larry Breland family and a wooden fence at the Second Street home of the John Necaise family, both in Bay St. Louis. The twister also damaged eight houses in the subdivision and four more homes in the Pineville Community. No injuries or deaths were reported as a result of the tornado. The photograph was taken at the Bay-Walton Yacht Club just after the twister touched down in the bay near the intersection of US-90 and Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Neighborhood needs critical

Bay residents willing to pay for water main

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Several residents of Washington Street in Bay St. Louis north of US-90 are willing to pay for installation of a water main to provide water to their homes.

John Garrison at a Tuesday night Bay City Council meeting stated, "We have to have water and we will do whatever we can to get it. But my God, we need help!"

He explained residents in that area utilize McDonald's Subdivision well or have installed shallow wells with pumps.

"...we wake up in the morning and may get a glass of water or may not," Garrison said emphasizing the unreliability of the water sources.

Garrison reported six of 12 Washington Road residents are in immediate need of city water service.

"It has been estimated 1,000 feet of pipe is needed to provide water for our area which would cost $2,100. With city crews laying the pipe the estimated cost would be $200-per-household," he stated.

Carl Tartavouille, another Washington Street resident, said, "We'll use buckets to get water to our houses if you (the city) could just run a line halfway!"

He also reported a frequent lack of water pressure and attributed that problem to increased use by a growing area population.

Garrison stated, "We are over a barrel and are willing to pay the cost of providing a water main, a tap-in fee and service rates."

He said the maximum charge for each home would be $325 plus costs for running pipe to the main line.

"We agree to contribute toward the cost of the pipe considering the poor financial condition of the city," Garrison noted.

Wilmer Seymour, city council president, and Sheldon Seuzeneau, a council member, both pledged support of providing water service to those residents.

Seuzeneau stated, "I will bring this before the council when all the details are worked out."

Seymour said, "One thing you can't do without is water. I'll vote for your water and I'm for you getting water."

Gene Taylor, a councilman, asked if Garrison could present a written proposal at the next council meeting from the residents pledging that they would fund a water line.

Garrison agreed to Taylor's request. Seymour directed Bill Johnston, city utility superintendent, to provide a cost estimate of the water extension to the council.

Regarding city grounds mowing, the council unanimously approved a motion offered by Taylor authorizing advertisements seeking bids for mowing street edges and parks in the city from April through October.

Taylor estimated the contract would involve 50 miles of mowing within the city limits.

The councilman at a previous meeting questioned mower maintenance costs.

In reference to drilling a water well to replace the aging Leonard Street well, the council authorized James Chiniche, an engineer, to survey property adjacent to the water tank at Tiger Stadium for placement of the new well.

The council specified cost of the survey and accompanying legal description is not to exceed $175.

Chiniche recommended the new well site at the eastern end of the stadium parking area.

Joseph Gex, city attorney, agreed to contact Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District officials to determine if there were any objections to the well location.

The engineer reported the Leonard well controls, motor and pump could be used on the new site, but he said the controls should be cleaned, the motor should be rewound and the pump needs a new shaft and bearings.

He also recommended a small building be constructed to house a chlorinator and fluoridator.

Regarding a preliminary water, gas, sewerage and drainage service study conducted by Lewis-Eaton Partnership of Jackson, the board discussed the study with Ray Eaton of the firm.

James Thriffliey, a councilman, said drainage was not properly reviewed in the study.

Eaton explained detailed plans for specific city services would be presented in studies of specific areas of the city.

Thriffliey and Harry Farve, a councilman, agreed to the study.

State charges Billy Sills with tax fraud

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Hancock County Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills was indicted by a Hinds County Grand Jury for alleged Mississippi Income Tax fraud, according to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Fencing contractor Thomas Stinson and his wife, Mildred Stinson were also indicted for tax fraud by the grand jury.

Peterson said, "I received the indictments Wednesday afternoon from Sheriff J. D. McAdory of Hinds County."

"Apparently the three were indicted by a Hinds Grand Jury, and we have served the indictments and all three are out on a $5,000 bond each. I spoke to McAdory, and the three agreed to appear tomorrow (Thursday) for processing and he indicated in our conversation they will be arraigned Friday," Peterson added.

Sills' charges apparently are in connection with repairs made at Gulfview School in Lakeshore following a May 1980 tornado.

Stinson Fence Company reportedly charged $26,500 for the replacement of fencing damaged by the storm.

The indictments state, "...the accused did willfully, unlawfully, feloniously and fraudulently make statements contained in a State of Mississippi Resident Individual Income Tax Return...knew then and there to be false (an amount of $26,500) income for the year 1980."

Two indictments were issued against Mrs. Stinson, one in regard to a Mississippi Corporation Franchise and Income Tax Return as well as her individual tax return.

Sills was indicted earlier this month by a Hancock County Grand Jury on charges he accepted $7,500 as an incentive to hire a contractor needed to repair the tornado damages at Gulfview.

The indictment charges Sills with accepting of $7,500 from Robert Rippetoe, president of Bay Contractors Inc., "as an inducement or incentive to award a contract..." to that firm to repair Gulfview School in Lakeshore.

A November 1980 Hancock County Grand Jury indicted Rippetoe for "false pretense" in regard to the May 1980 tornado damages repairs.

Oris Ladner of Lakeshore, Hancock County School Board member for District One who did not seek reelection, was also indicted by the same grand jury. He was charged with "conflict of interest" in regard to the repairs.

A third person indicted by the November 1980 Grand Jury was John V. Ladner, election commissioner of District Three.

The indictment against John Ladner stated, "...willfully, feloniously, fraudulently and falsely did forge the name of Tommy Lane."

In February of 1982, State Attorney General Bill Allain's office filed a $375,959 suit against the school officials.

They included Sills, current school board members Woodrow Ladner, Louie Ladner, Johnny Banks, Monvel Cuevas and former school board member Oris Ladner.

The civil suit charged the defendants with "total disregard for an breaches of their obligations and trusts" in connection with the elementary school repairs made following the tornado.

Rippetoe was found guilty by a jury and was ordered to serve six months in jail and a six months suspended sentence in addition to paying a $14,000 fine and restitution of $4,840. He is appealing the decision to the Mississippi State Supreme Court.

Oris Ladner pled guilty to conflict of interest charges and was fined $500.

John V. Ladner was found not guilty of charges two weeks ago on a directed verdict by Judge Leslie B. Grant.

The other charges are awaiting trial.

Powerline opponents prepare for hearing

By BRENT MACEY

Opponents of a 500,000-volt transmission line planned to cross Hancock County on its way to Baton Rouge from the Daniel Electric Generating Plant in Lake Charles are preparing for a hearing in the Sellers Community Tuesday to continue the battle against Mississippi Power Company.

A hearing before the Public Service Commission has been scheduled for May 17 in Jackson to determine if the power company should be granted a certificate of convenience and necessity—a certificate enabling Mississippi Power to begin construction of the line.

The same 25 people, mostly from Hancock County, who gathered Tuesday discussed this plan of attack for the proposed line.

representing Southern Mississippi Residents for Orderly Development—an incorporated group opposed to the powerline—told the group that the hearing would be "like a trial."

He noted the hearing could continue for two or three days.

Shella Madden, co-chairman of the SMROD, urged the group to pace themselves if the hearing lasted more than three days.

She noted several buses have been scheduled to make the trip to Jackson.

Burks said the power company will be allowed to present their argument to the commission first, he said.

He stated he is currently reviewing witnesses which SMROD will ask to testify before the commission.

Both Madden and Burks noted SMROD will be sending money to the witnesses and urged Hancock members to donate.

SMROD has already filed three motions with the commission in hopes of blocking construction of the line.

The commission recently ruled against all three.

One of the motions filed by SMROD argued that the Mississippi Service Commission does not have the authority to grant a certificate of convenience and necessity.

The motion is based on a Public Utility Act of 1940 which states "the commission shall have exclusive original jurisdiction over public utility business and property and franchises."

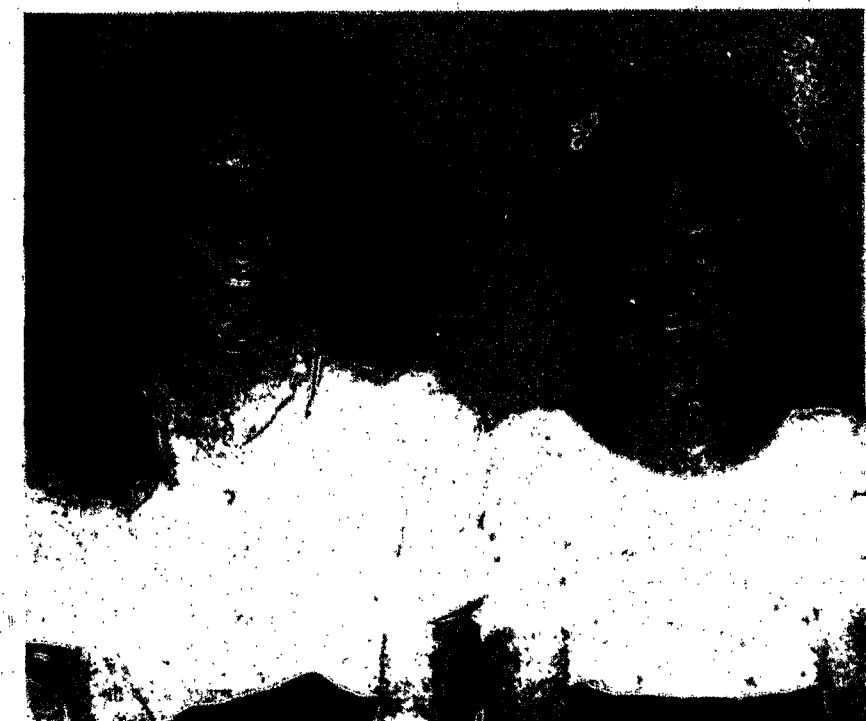

The motion argues that the powerline is interstate in nature and interstate since the line will cross Mississippi, Louisiana and eventually connect Gulf States and Texas.

SCATTERED DEBRIS—A fallen tree and broken fence adjoin the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Breland on Suebe Street in Bay St. Louis in the wake of a tornado which touched down on the house Tuesday afternoon. Shingles from the Breland roof were scattered throughout the neighborhood and neighbors gathered in the back yard to assist with temporary repairs. Although the house was badly damaged, two occupants inside were uninjured. (Staff photo by Brent Macey)

HARD HIT—Neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Breland of 306 Suebe Street in Bay St. Louis scurry to repair the roof of the Breland house Tuesday evening after a tornado ripped off shingles and a section of plywood roofing to expose bare wooden rafters to a drizzling rain. An antenna was also knocked down and bent, a fence adjoining the property was torn down in part while the screen porch was also slightly damaged. Kim Breland and David Strong were in the house when the tornado struck at approximately 5:10 p.m. Breland said the tornado, which crossed a field near Old Spanish Trail and passed over the house 'sounded like a giant vacuum sucking everything up.' The plywood sheets torn from the roof have not been located. (Staff photo by Brent Macey)

Judgeship candidate arrested

A Democratic candidate for Harrison County Circuit Court judgeship to be voted June 1 has been arrested on traffic charges by Gulfport police.

Clyde O. Hurbert, candidate for a Mississippi Second Circuit judgeship, was arrested by Gulfport police shortly after midnight Wednesday and charged with improper lane usage, driving 45 mph in a 30 mph zone, and driving under the influence of alcohol.

Gulfport Police Chief Larin Smith said a sobriety test registered a blood alcohol content of .14 percent. A percentage of .10 is considered legally drunk.

Officer Steve Benigno made the arrest at Pass Road and Washington Avenue after observing Hurbert weaving across the center line, Smith said.

Hurbert, an attorney who resides in Gulfport and has a law office in Biloxi, was taken to the Harrison County Jail at Gulfport where he was bonded out by Gulfport Bail Bond Service. The total amount of bond was $300.

Hurbert said he has been living two months on two or three hours sleep because of his campaign, law practice and other commitments.

He said he was under the care of a doctor who Tuesday prescribed sleeping pills and tranquilizers.

Hurbert said he took his tranquilizers during the course of the day and drank two more cups of coffee and orange juice while talking with friends at a Brookhaven Marina.

He said he has been on a diet and had not eaten Tuesday, that he had taken only coffee and the tranquilizers all day.

Hurbert said he had no complaint about the way he was treated by Gulfport police, but police said Hurbert had complained about being handcuffed too tightly while he was at the police station.

Chief Smith said Hurbert called his law partner and wife about the handcuffs and that they came to the police station and took pictures.

Smith said Hurbert also called the Federal Bureau of Investigation about the handcuffs.

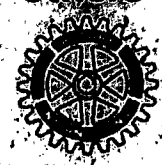

Hurbert said he was authorizing his personal physician, Dr. Billy Wansley, to release medical information pertinent to the incident.

Wansley said he saw Hurbert Tuesday morning, that Hurbert was withdrawn from campaigning heavily and had been sleeping poorly. He said he advised Hurbert to get the hospital for a few days to catch up on his rest, but that Hurbert said he had to keep going.

Wansley said he prescribed tranquilizers and instructed Hurbert how they should be taken.

Scrip forgery charged

A Biloxi woman was arrested in Waveland Tuesday on a charge of prescription forgery after a pharmacist alerted the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, officers said.

Robbin L. Fairchild, 21, whose address was not immediately available, presented a prescription for 30 dilauid pills on a form reported stolen from a Long Beach physician, said investigator Alvin Aldner.

"The pharmacist called us, and we called the doctor who said he did not give any prescriptions for dilauid," Aldner said.

The narcotic dilauid is a derivative of opium.

"It costs about $50 a pill on the street, but if prescribed as a painkiller by a doctor, you can get 30 for about $5," he said.

Fairchild was released under $1,500 bond pending preliminary hearing, Aldner said.

The prescription form is believed to be one of a pad of forms stolen from the same Long Beach physician, Aldner said. "There have been other forged prescriptions passed, and we are expected to make another arrest in the case."

Children catching flu, chicken pox in Hancock

By KEITH BRITT
STUDENT INTERN

Outbreaks of influenza and chicken pox affecting children in Hancock County recently are reported by a local doctor and school officials this week.

J.D. Panton, principal of Charles B. Murphy Elementary School of Pearlman, said a high number of absences occurred last week with 25-30 percent of his students being out.

He said the percentage of students out this week was not more than 10 percent.

Panton said the outbreak did not affect any specific age group at his school, but students in grades one through eight.

A spokesman for Dr. Bertrand Sy, a Bay St. Louis pediatrician, said the doctor treated a large number of influenza patients within the last two weeks with most cases being children ranging in age from one-five-years-old.

Nolene Breland, secretary at North Bay Elementary School in Bay St. Louis, said the school has had an excessive number of chicken pox cases with influenza not affecting them not as in other schools.

Breland noted the school has about 30 percent of its students absent with the second, third and fourth grades recording the highest absentee rate.

Board ok's new Port position

By BRENT MAGEY
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday agreed to establish a new position at the County Port and Harbor Commission.

Salaries for the new job were not discussed pending consideration of experience of job applicants. According to a resolution from the commission which requests establishing the new job, the position will be entitled 'Railroad, Administrator or Engineering Coordinator.'

Commissioner Dave McDonald explained Monday that the person hired for the job must be 'someone with a strong background in engineering work and general engineering practice... he in the industrial park. An accident due would be capable of preparing nearly to a faulty rail system may result in the all or all of the data required in pre-commission being held liable, he has application for funding,' and would argue.

Dr. Peter Wagner, vice-chancellor of academic affairs, was the featured speaker at Honors Day.

The annual event was highlighted by the presentation of Taylor Medals and Taylor Citations, the University's highest academic awards, and recognition of this year's recipient of the Outstanding Teacher Award, William Champion, professor of law.

Other motions filed by SMROD requested Mississippi Power first obtain federal right-of-way permits where the line crosses property under federal jurisdiction.

Brook stated after the meeting, "If Mississippi Power couldn't get the federal permits then the line couldn't be constructed and it would save us a battle."

A final motion denied by the commission requested the power company contact people within one mile of the line's route to notify them of the company's plans.

Everyone at the meeting said he had never been contacted by power company officials.

Burks said more motions will follow, as 'fodder or ammunition' for future appeal if the commission rules against SMROD.

He noted the case will be appealed by either Mississippi Power or SMROD, depending on the commission's ruling. "All the people at the meeting seemed concerned that the powerline would be hazardous to themselves and farm animals."

Brook stated he felt more research needed to be conducted before the line could be considered safe.

"It wasn't long ago that they were saying asbestos was safe," Brook said. Brook's comment was in reference to a recent press conference conducted by the Power Company in Picayune. Company department heads and an expert from Pennsylvania addressed many of the most common fears surrounding the line. They denied that the line would be harmful.

The power company officials stated more research is being conducted because the greatest possible hazard—if one exists—might occur within the home since most Americans use numerous modern electrical appliances.

Brook distributed mimeographed articles, one from Reader's Digest which outlined hazardous effects of the line. He urged the group to read the articles.

Most of the arguments presented in the articles were considered invalid by power company officials at the press conference.

citman, both said they thought the entire city would be included in the preliminary study and not just five sections, including the annexed area, which were dealt with in the plan.

Eaton noted that 'no way' could the city afford to upgrade services in the five areas explained in the plan, much less the entire city.

He explained that $8 million would be needed to undertake improvements in the five study areas and cost estimates for those projects would be obsolete after six months due to irradically inflating costs.

In reference to the purchase of radar traffic speed monitoring equipment for the City Police Department, the council accepted a low bid of $3,970 for two of the devices from MPH Industries, Inc. of Chanute, Ka. as recommended by City Clerk Edward Favre.

But the supervisors have refused to hire the engineer on grounds that the commission does not have an engineer of record employed on retainer.

Supervisors have argued that engineers on retainer would charge less than other engineers hired specifically for individual jobs.

Monday commissioners McDonald, Vic Frankiewicz and Harry Baxter explained they had been assigned to a committee to study the engineering matter. Those three commissioners and Wehre presented a resolution to the board which recommended the new job. McDonald declared the new position might solve 90 percent of the commission's problems with the supervisors.

All the committee members agreed that they would continue to examine the possibility of employing an engineer of record.

Supervisors were apparently appeased by the work of the commissioners and agreed to establishing the new position. They then approved allowing the commission to hire Advanced Development Inc. of Bay St. Louis to prepare specifications for repair work to the Industrial Park railroad.

However, Supervisors Bert Courge and Sam Perniciaro stated this was the last time they would approve hiring an engineering firm not on retainer.

In other business, the board requested a special election to fill the District Three Justice Court Judgeship vacated following the dismissal of Judge Lloyd Anderson.

Anderson was removed from office April 7, following a unanimous vote by State Supreme Court Justices. The justices agreed with a recommendation by the Commission of Judicial Performance that Anderson violated the state's code of conduct by allegedly embezzling $215 in public money.

The election date is set by the Supervisors for June 1, the same date as the regular election.

Also Monday, the board agreed to publish its intent to establish the East Hancock County Volunteer Fire Department District.

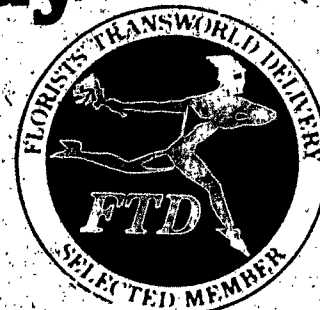

Hancock Arson Squad Investigator Ed Friloux noted the department has been in existence for one year.

Approval of the fire district in an area South of Bayou LaCroix and north of US-90—including Garden Isle Subdivision and Shoreline Park—will enable the district to receive a two mill tax levy from the county.

A public hearing to hear input on the matter was set by the supervisors for May 17 in the Courthouse.

We received a call from a spokesman from the Goodwill Industries telling us that in recent weeks some people have been leaving real junk, stuff no way possible of reclaiming at some of the locations in Hancock County.

Now Goodwill appreciates items which can be repaired for resale, but when items are too far gone, they have the extra expense of taking them to the dump.

So, we urge all citizens to put the trash out for the garbage collector and take the better items to the Goodwill boxes.

Saturday night will again be one of those times of the year our clocks will have to be changed.

Since it is Spring, we will have to advance the clocks by one hour. We wonder how many folks will be an hour late for church on Sunday.

We know there will be folks out there making sure we are telling it to you correctly, but since we blundered several years ago on the time changing, we haven't forgotten the many reminders.

Most folks would rather see the clocks remain the same throughout the year, and really it would probably be better without the changes twice a year.

Congratulations are in order for Mrs. Edris Stechmann on her being selected as the secretary of the year for Hancock County by the Chamber of Commerce.

We have known Mrs. Stechmann for many years, and know she does a fine job as a secretary for H. L. Thomas, manager of Coast Electric Power Association.

As a matter of fact, I would like to congratulate all of the secretaries who were nominated for secretary of the year. It was an honor for you to be thought of by your employer.

We had a very dangerous weather situation Tuesday evening and are real lucky no one was injured.

Everyone is talking about how close the tornado came to them or their home as it skipped through Hancock County.

We know both families whose homes were damaged by the winds and are happy they reported no bodily injury.

Those tornados seem to have developed a liking for our area, because we can remember never having any when we were kids.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Commerce Day was a big success and the efforts of everyone involved are appreciated.

The students were real ladies and gentlemen, a great tribute to their parents and teachers.

The business and professionals are to be thanked for their part by taking valuable time and giving the students some first-hand knowledge of the different professions.

The principals are to be given high praises for their cooperation in getting the students to the chamber office.

Without the help of Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson and Bay St. Louis Chief of Police Douglas Williams, we would have had a monumental traffic jam, but this was avoided by the professional work of their officers.

And most of all, Dick Kosbab who is the educational chairman, the guy who came up with the idea of Commerce Day, he should be thanked as well as his committee.

We know Clarice Gustin, executive director of the chamber and Melanie Mitchell, secretary, sure did a lot of work on this project.

So, it all ends up to this, the program would not have been a success without the help of everyone.

STRESS AND RECREATION

A growing body of scientific knowledge suggests that not only shouldn't we feel guilty about taking off for a day of fishing, or waterskiing, we should do it for our mental health.

More and more psychologists are prescribing regular recreation as an antidote to the stress of modern society, according to the boating authorities at Mercury Outboards.

Recently a major study undertaken at the University of Wisconsin entitled "Some Physiological Accompaniments of Recreative Experience" indicated that physiological changes occur during recreation. The study underscores how necessary recreation is to relieve stress.

A research team subjected a group of volunteers to a two-phase treatment. The first phase was a period of mental arithmetic problem-solving deliberately designed to be frustrating. This was followed immediately by phase two, which consisted of participation by the volunteer in a period of activity that he thought of as "recreation."

By placing electrodes at various points on the body and employing other laboratory techniques, the researchers were able to monitor such things as heart rate, skin resistance, forehead tension, upper back tension and respiration. These readings reflected the levels of stress in the research subjects.

Test results revealed significant differences in five of the six physiological variables monitored between the period of induced stress and the recreation period. In short, the study provided additional evidence of the value of recreation in relieving stress.

THE PEOPLE SPEAK

This is one column I decided to let the people write.

Thousands of South Mississippians have responded to my 1982 questionnaire and with those responses have come a variety of letters expressing opinions on a variety of subjects.

While I can't include all of the comments in this space, I have picked out some of the interesting remarks made by people who filled out the questionnaire. I'm in the process of counting the responses now and will let you know of the outcome.

In the meantime, here are some of the comments I have received:

—From a man in Pascagoula: "President Reagan is the last hope that the middle class workers or backbone of the United States has to rescue us from pitfalls of the programs started under President Roosevelt."

—From a woman in Hattiesburg: "As a former social worker...I know how much waste is carried out in state programs administratively, as well as in giving money to people who are too lazy to even try to earn money. In short, let's return common sense to government."

—From a man in Gulfport: "Veterans benefits we can and must afford."

—From a woman in Moss Point: "I support you and President Reagan, and would like for Reaganomics to be given a chance to prove itself."

—From a man in Biloxi: "It would be extremely difficult to cut entitlement programs...in the face of a recession. Among the possibilities are an oil import fee and closing some tax loopholes for business."

—From a man in Hattiesburg: "It seems to me that one of the best ways to reduce interest rates is to reduce the federal deficit which would reduce the federal government's involvement in the money market, and make more money available in the private sector, for the building of homes and purchasing of automobiles as well as other financing."

And, by all indications, there is precious little that any President can do about it, except act with renewed commitment to put people who share his ideas in every possible position.

When policy decisions are made at the upper level of the State Department, for example, it should be the duty of an employee of the U.S. government to carry out the policy. Instead, we have seen a pattern of damaging leaks of sensitive information, refusal to act and blatant abuse of the people's trust by some employees of the State Department.

The problem, as I see it, is centered on holdovers from previous presidential administrations who become entrenched and simply do not respond to suggestions for improvement in a national problem and affects all administrations.

I am concerned that the problem causes degradation in the level of services to the American people. The people are being served well when the individuals they elected find an obstacle to their progress in the way of government.

My thought is that when the people elect a new President they expect his policies and plans to be carried out through the federal government. They must be able to see the results of their votes. If they cannot, they will be able to see the results of their votes.

Further, the President must be diligent to put people who are not in point of view in positions of influence. Without the support of the people, the President's policy of government may be a failure.

NEWS FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

Mississippi could gain $4.6 to $5 million in increased federal food donations as a result of two bills recently signed into law by Governor William Winter.

Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs research indicated that a transfer of food distribution activities from the Department of Mental Health to the State Department of Education would take advantage of the Education Department's USDA food to be distributed.

The Education Department has 12 school lunch program distribution points across the state while DMH has only one in the greater Jackson area.

Together, the two bills provide about $100,000 to fund three staff positions and some support services in the Education Department's Food Services division. The positions include a clerk and two supervisors to oversee the distribution of federal commodities to penal institutions and charitable groups.

"We are continually looking at means of increasing cooperation among state agencies to bring about increased federal funding to our state and to operate government more economically," said Winter. "The Federal-State Programs research is indicative of those ongoing efforts."

In the future, foods will be dispersed under the same process used for food distribution in school lunch programs. This system involves taking commodities by truck or train to the 12 distribution points located strategically across the state for easy pickup by institutions.

Previously, under the Department of Mental Health, institutions have been required to drive to a storage facility at the Mississippi State Hospital at Whitfield to pick up food items.

As a result, most of the 23 groups receiving commodities are located in the Jackson area. For institutions located in extreme north or south Mississippi, the trip to Whitfield would not be economically feasible.

Typical of the foods that will be distributed under the new program are cheese, butter, non-fat dry milk, beans, corn meal, peanut butter, rice and some meat products.

As part of Governor Winter's continuing efforts to develop the state's economy by creating a better trained and more skilled workforce, the second Governor's Colloquium on Science, Engineering and Technology will be held cently in Jackson, focused on the skills and education that will be needed to make Mississippi workers competitive in an increasingly sophisticated economy.

Admiral Kinnaird McKee, Director of the Nuclear Propulsion Program for the U.S. Navy, was the Colloquium's keynote speaker. He discussed the need for intensive education in the fundamentals of math and science and explored the relationship between education and an increasingly sophisticated marketplace.

Seminars were also held on "The Era of the Eighties," "The Work Force of the Eighties," and "The Mississippi Workforce Now and in the Future." The Governor's Colloquium brings together top student scientists, mathematicians and leaders from Mississippi's universities, colleges, junior colleges and high schools to discuss current science-related issues.

Winter considers upgrading the level of education in Mississippi a primary goal of his administration. According to Winter, "Inventions such as the digital computer and the transistor have revolutionized our society and enhanced our country's productivity and economic prosperity. At the same time, these changes are dramatically affecting the levels of skills required by our labor forces. A recent national study reveals that by 1990, 80 percent of American jobs will require some training after high school, with most of these jobs requiring technical education."

"We must continue to emphasize science and math education, beginning in our primary and secondary schools, if we are to provide skilled people for our technology-based industries."

TAXING and SPENDING

by LEWIS K. UHLER

If you are confused over all the different kinds of numbers coming out of Washington these days, you're in good company. Even those of us who are familiar with the federal budget process and who have some confidence about bringing it under control are also confused. Why?

Because almost everyone who is building that budget — mainly the Congress and the Office of Management and Budget — are using "funny numbers."

You have heard about all the cuts in the budget. It may come as news that federal spending this year will set a record. In fiscal 1981, the federal government spent about $680 billion. In current fiscal year 1982, it will spend about $730 billion — an increase of $50 billion if my arithmetic is right.

That's an increase of about $310 for every man, woman and child in the United States. Then why all the noise over cuts and slashes which on closer inspection seem more imaginary than real?

Mississippi Power cites cost of high interest rates

Mississippi Power Company's Board of Directors received competitive bids this week in Gulfport for the sale of $25 million principal amount of 30-year first mortgage bonds.

The successful bidder was an underwriting group headed by Morgan Stanley and Co. Incorporated.

Allan R. Barton, Mississippi Power president, said that the winning bid was $8.659 with an interest rate of 16.12 percent, which will result in a net annual cost to Mississippi Power of 16.447 percent.

It's really simple. The whole discussion has been in comparison with the last budget proposed by President Carter and what he would have tried to spend if he had been reelected. President Reagan has simply scaled down the $70 billion increase by some $15 billion.

How is the federal government spending our tax dollars? Defense spending will go from $162.1 billion last year to $200 billion in the year ahead. Social Security and Railroad Retirement pensions will go from $138 billion to over $160 billion.

Interest on the national debt will increase from $79.5 billion to about $85 billion. It's interesting that interest payments alone on the national debt — the much abused Congressional credit card — could more than cover a looming 1982 deficit.

That leaves us with about $295 billion for everything else. Unemployment insurance costs will go up from $22 billion to about $25 billion. Medicare outlays will increase from $42.4 billion to $49.5 billion. Medicaid from $19.5 billion to $20.5 billion.

And despite higher eligibility requirements for food stamps, program costs will still go from $11.5 billion to $11.9 billion. The Headstart program will go from $230 million in 1981 to $260 million.

So where are all these massive cuts we hear so much about? The only agency in the entire government to actually be sent into oblivion was the Community Services Administration — yet many of its anti-poverty services will continue through a block grant to the states.

The eight hospitals and 27 clinics of the Public Health Service have been transferred to state, local or private control and will no longer offer free health care to merchant seamen.

Impact Aid to local school districts has been curbed to cover compensation only when parents of students both live and work on federal property. College student loans will be limited mostly to those whose families have incomes under $30,000.

There has been much heat and light generated over changes in federal spending. There will probably be even more in the months to come.

As we restore some sanity to the federal numbers game, government leaders could provide a real service to thinking Americans by linking all budget cut talk with comparisons of actual past and future spending.

(Note: Lewis K. Uhler is President of the National Tax Limitation Committee, the sponsor of a Constitutional amendment to limit permanently federal spending and taxes.)

The new first mortgage bonds will be offered to the public at 96.938 percent to yield 16.3 percent subject to final approval of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Mississippi Power last sold first mortgage bonds in 1980. At that time, the $25 million of bonds carried the company's record high interest rate, 13.75 percent.

Proceeds from the bond sale, along with equity funds from The Southern Company, bank loans, and funds generated internally, will help finance Mississippi Power's construction program.

CREDIT RATINGS

There are several ways to establish and maintain your own credit rating.

Since individual needs vary, you may find that some are more helpful to you than others.

You can pick and choose one or more of the suggestions below which best apply to your circumstances.

If you are divorced, taking on responsibility for jointly incurred debts will indicate that you are financially dependable.

Get a full or part-time job. After you have worked for several months, take steps to establish a good credit rating. Be aware that you may have to be employed for three to 12 months before you can qualify for a cash loan or other type of credit, depending on the lender.

Open a checking account in your own name. If you are married and have a joint account with your husband, open a second account under your name only. Be sure not to overdraw as this information will be recorded and will adversely affect your credit rating.

Apply for a 'ready check' or 'overdraft' account with your bank in your own name. You don't necessarily have to use it, but the fact that you have been accepted will be recorded in your credit file and will be to your advantage if you later need other types of credit.

Apply for a single-purpose credit card (example, department store, gasoline) even if you initially need a co-signer. Later you can make a change and have the account in your own name.

Apply for a charge account in your name with a local store. If you are married, be sure you have your own account number and are not just listed by your name under your husband's account number. Otherwise, the record of your payments will go into his credit file, not yours.

Apply for a multipurpose credit card, such as American Express, Carte Blanche, and Master Charge. Again, you don't necessarily have to use it, but the fact that you have been accepted will be to your advantage when you apply for other types of credit.

Borrow cash from a bank or credit union. You will probably need a co-signer initially. If you apply for an installment loan, make a large downpayment and then pay off the loan according to the terms of your contract.

Pay for the purchase of furniture, a car, or a major appliance on an installment plan through the dealer if you don't want (or can't get) a direct loan from a credit union or bank. You will probably need a co-signer the first time you apply for such credit and pay a higher interest rate, but you will be offered convenience and service in return. The record of how you pay off your loan will go into your credit file.

Borrow money from a consumer finance company if you need 'instant' funds or don't qualify for a lower cost loan. These companies take greater risks and usually offer faster service than do banks or credit unions, but they must charge a higher interest rate to protect themselves.

River faculty salaries frozen

Faculty and staff salaries have been frozen at Pearl River College.

PRC President Marvin R. White told the Pearl River faculty, at the regularly scheduled April meeting recently, that there will be no pay increases for the 1982-1983 school year.

"I regret we (the college) cannot provide any pay increases for the coming year," Dr. White said, "but, because of the economic situation at this time it is just not feasible."

Dr. White pointed out that Senate Bill 2925 has passed, allowing Mississippi Junior Colleges a budget of $40,248,410. The 1982-'83 budget is $364,000 more than last year, however, $364,000 of the total is earmarked for new associate degree nursing programs around the state.

"The bottom line is that Pearl River's share is about $30,000 more than we got this year," Dr. White said, "and that will barely cover the increase in our utilities."

The good news filtering out of the faculty meeting is that PRC's financial condition is solid and that no programs, except federally supported developmental courses will be affected during the next school term.

"Departmental budgets should remain about the same as this year," Dr. White said. "There may be a little change here and there but overall everything will function as is."

The future of the developmental classes in English, reading and math will remain doubtful through the fall semester. "The Federal Government has cut off funds for these programs," Dr. White said.

"This means we will schedule the programs for the fall semester, but we'll have to wait and see what kind of aid we'll receive for the '83 Spring semester."

"I appreciate the professional job all of you do," Dr. White said, "and I understand you need more money, however, this is the best we can do at this time."

MARCH OF DIMES WALKAMERICA had a national preview at the U.S. Capitol in Washington, D.C., on March 31. Senators and Representatives from every state lined up for a symbolic "Congressional WalkAmerica" to urge a mass turnout for the national walkathon April 24-25. The week-end, March of Dimes chapters will sponsor community WalkAmericas throughout the country to raise funds for prevention of birth defects, our nation's major child health problem.

CROP INSURANCE

Profit margins in farming being as narrow as they are, you can lose more money from a natural disaster in a bad year than you can make in five good years. That's why you need a management tool that protects your crop investment even if you lose your crops through no fault of your own.

One management tool that gives you this advantage is the new 'all-risk' crop insurance. The program is a partnership among the federal government, the farmer and the private insurance industry. It's administered by the Federal Crop Insurance Corp.

Crop insurance protects you against crop losses caused by adverse natural conditions like drought, flood, hail, wind, fire, frost, freeze, winterkill, snow, lightning, insects, plant disease and wildfire. In all, you're protected against 119 causes of production losses other than mismanagement.

At a minimum, the all-risk insurance permits you to recover production costs, not only do you choose your level of protection, but the government pays part of the cost.

Crop insurance helps you do a better job of marketing, and the program is managed locally on a wide variety of crops.

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

Your cost depends on the crop insured, the history in the area, the crop production level, the level you elect. The government pays the first 30 percent of the premium, and you pay the premium, after harvest with no interest charge.

For complete details on the program including premiums and guarantees, contact your FCI representative or ASCS office.

CARE AFTER PLANTING
Planting is only one step in transplanting trees and shrubs. The follow-up care you give often determines success or failure with landscape plants. Trunks of young trees are susceptible to an scald, a winter injury caused by freezing sap.

To prevent scald, wrap the tree with a protective wrap available from your local garden center. Wrap the trunk from the bottom up to the first major branch, using soft cotton string. Don't use strong cord or wire that may cut the trunk.

Stake and tie trees to prevent the wind from whipping the young plants about and moving the roots. Trees less than six feet can be supported with one stake, larger trees will need two or more.

A piece of wire run through a section of old garden hose wrapped around the tree with the other end tied to the stake works well. Commercial archedors also are available.

Young trees and shrubs must be watered through the first summer if you expect them to survive. Water thoroughly every week that it doesn't rain. Make a ring of soil around the plants to form a small well. Fill the well completely with water at each watering. May through September are critical times for watering.

Many forest landowners pay too much federal income tax because they fail to take advantage of the legal deductions, credits and preferential tax treatments which are incentives to increase timber production.

For instance, under a new federal law, landowners may claim a 10 percent tax credit and a seven-year write-off of out-of-pocket reforestation costs of up to $10,000 per year. The law applies to reforestation expenses incurred after Dec. 30, 1979.

Individuals, corporations, partnerships and estates are eligible, but trusts are not. Costs of site preparation, seeds or seedling, labor and tools, and equipment depreciation are included.

Many landowners have sold timber in the last year and these people also can cash in by paying less income tax. Timber is a capital asset which if owned for over one year and sold, qualified for long term capital gains income tax treatment. Under capital gains, only 40 percent of the net long term capital gains is taxed as income.

Most landowners would qualify particularly if they sell timber infrequently.

Landowners selling timber frequently also qualify, but they should consult a tax expert and forester before selling timber to be sure that their method of selling timber meets the Internal Revenue Service's requirements. In addition, any costs of selling the timber as well as the landowner's original cost in the timber are subtracted when calculating gain.

Annual deductions of forest management expenses may be claimed even if no forestry income is realized during the year.

If a landowner itemizes deductions, costs of short life tools, equipment maintenance, salaries, wages, fees and equipment depreciation must be taken in the year incurred.

Property taxes, interest payments, protection costs, timber stand improvement costs and timber insurance premiums may also be claimed as deductions each year. However, these latter expenses need not be claimed annually if the landowner does not need deductions. In that case, the landowner should keep a record of these costs, as they may be subtracted from the sale price of the timber when it is sold and will result in reduced taxable income.

I have several publications available which better explain and list the federal tax benefits available to private forest landowners. Copies may be obtained by contacting the County Extension Office.

UNWANTED VISITOR—The Li'l General Store on US-90 Saturday received an unwanted guest when this station wagon driven by John Spencer of Rt. 1, Box 143, Bay St. Louis, crashed through the store's front door, according to Bay St. Louis Police Investigator Larry Davis. Because no malicious intent was established, the matter of repairs will be negotiated between the store and Spencer, Davis said. Spencer was charged with public drunkenness and released on a $25 bond. He was scheduled to appear before Bay Judge Joseph Beavenutti Wednesday night. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Touring energy program being presented locally

"Energy Adventure," a University of New Orleans production describing current energy issues, will be presented at 9:30 a.m., Monday, May 3 in the Bay Junior High School auditorium, according to W. J. Cameron, principal.

The program was presented Monday, April 19 at C. B. Murphy Elementary in Pearlinton.

Produced by Oak Ridge Associated Universities (ORAU), the program is presented by UNO and is sponsored by Chevron USA and Murphy Oil Company.

Focusing on an array of colorful graphic and electronic teaching devices, "Energy Adventure" features a see-saw that demonstrates the principle of supply and demand, a wisecracking gasoline pump, and a hand pump to compare human energy with other energy forms. Audience members participate in most of the demonstrations.

Rita Schalk, the teacher-demonstrator, uses these electronic teaching aids to put complex energy issues in a fresh and entertaining perspective. She is a graduate of the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, and has received extensive additional training from ORAU about the complexities of energy.

Chevron USA and Murphy Oil Company have arranged with UNO-ORAU to have "Energy Adventure" visit a different school each school day. The demonstration—presented in an assembly—may be followed by special classroom sessions where teachers and students explore ideas about current energy concerns and the impact of science and technology on social issues.

The followup sessions are adapted to the size and grade level of both science and nonscience classes. A demonstration-discussion session is also available for civic groups on request.

The "Energy Adventure" unit is one of 30 similar energy education units appearing daily at schools throughout the country. As part of an extensive mobile energy education program designed to foster a greater understanding of energy issues, "Energy Adventure" is modeled after other ORAU programs, "This Atomic World" and "Energy Today and Tomorrow."

ORAU is a not-for-profit education and research consortium of 51 colleges and universities.

Velocity zones eyed

Flood study nearing completion

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A Hancock County official reports a flood zone study now underway for this area and the entire Mississippi Gulf Coast is nearing completion.

Donn Murray of Bay St. Louis, county flood zone building inspector, says Gee and Jenson Engineers-Architects-Planners, Inc. of West Palm Beach, Fla. has completed about 80 percent of the study and public hearings regarding findings and proposals will be conducted later this year.

The study will refine an Army Corps of Engineers flood study conducted about 10 years ago which established criteria for minimum structure elevations and construction requirements coastwide.

Present Federal Flood Insurance and County Flood Plain Ordinance requirements call for first-floor elevations of new residential structures of not less than 13.1 feet above sea level.

But the minimum elevation requirement may be changed in some areas of the county as a result of the Gee and Jenson study.

Murray reports he recently attended a Gulf Coast building inspector's seminar in Pensacola, Fla. which discussed establishing velocity zones in some coastal areas.

He explains these V-zones are low lying areas which are prone to severe wave action in a hurricane.

New homes built in these areas could be required to build with a first-floor elevation of at least 15 feet above sea level, the inspector reports.

Murray speculates the only portions of Hancock which may be included in the zone are extremely low lying areas along Lakeshore Road.

He says Alabama and Florida have established V-zones in certain coastline areas.

Gee and Jenson officials report the company's study will also reduce minimum first-floor elevations in some areas of the county.

Regarding placement of trailers in the flood zone, Murray reports a recently adopted state law now requires owners of these dwellings to obtain a building permit and a permit from Edward D. Murtagh Jr., assessor-tax collector declaring the structures as real property.

The inspector says Coast Electric Power Association and Mississippi Power Co. will not provide electricity to trailers in the flood zone unless the two permits are obtained by owners.

He notes a trailer's axles and wheels must be removed and placed with its floor elevation not below 13.1 foot requirement.

NO PLACE TO HIDE

Martin Sheen narrates the nightmare of a child growing up during the Cold War on "Matters of Life and Death" at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, April 22, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

From Hiroshima to the Cuban missile crisis, government films, newsreels, cartoons, popular TV programs and celebrities sold America on fall-out shelters. Russia had the atomic bomb, and school children were taught they could save themselves from it by ducking beneath their desks.

"No Place to Hide" tells the story through clips from rare and once-classified films, using Brian Eno's haunting electronic music to punctuate the essay.

ITA SCHA

Cooking up a storm

By Katy McGuire Caire

These vegetable salads can be colorful and good to look at a year round, but in Spring they sparkle with extra color and freshness, don't they...they most joyous "spring" salad ever...and far more delectable than that staple of earlier days, Sulphur and molasses?

I'm not vegetarian, but I confess to being a "rabbit" gourmet (sorts...if it's green and crunchy and tasty, I'd just as soon eat on it as on a steak or ich, and when I'm slicing fresh mushrooms for a spinach and mushroom salad, the other diners hereabouts are lucky if they get a few mushrooms in their portions, for I munch and munch like Peter the famous Rabbit as I go along...and I like raw cabbage, too.

A platter of tender-crisp cooked vegetables served with lettuce and tomatoes and touched with a tasty marinade can be the mainstay of a Spring dinner or supper, and so easy to do.

Of course, if you're a bit lazy or pressed for time, you can use frozen or canned vegetables - but why ever in the world in Springtime? Here's MARINATED VEGETABLE SALAD

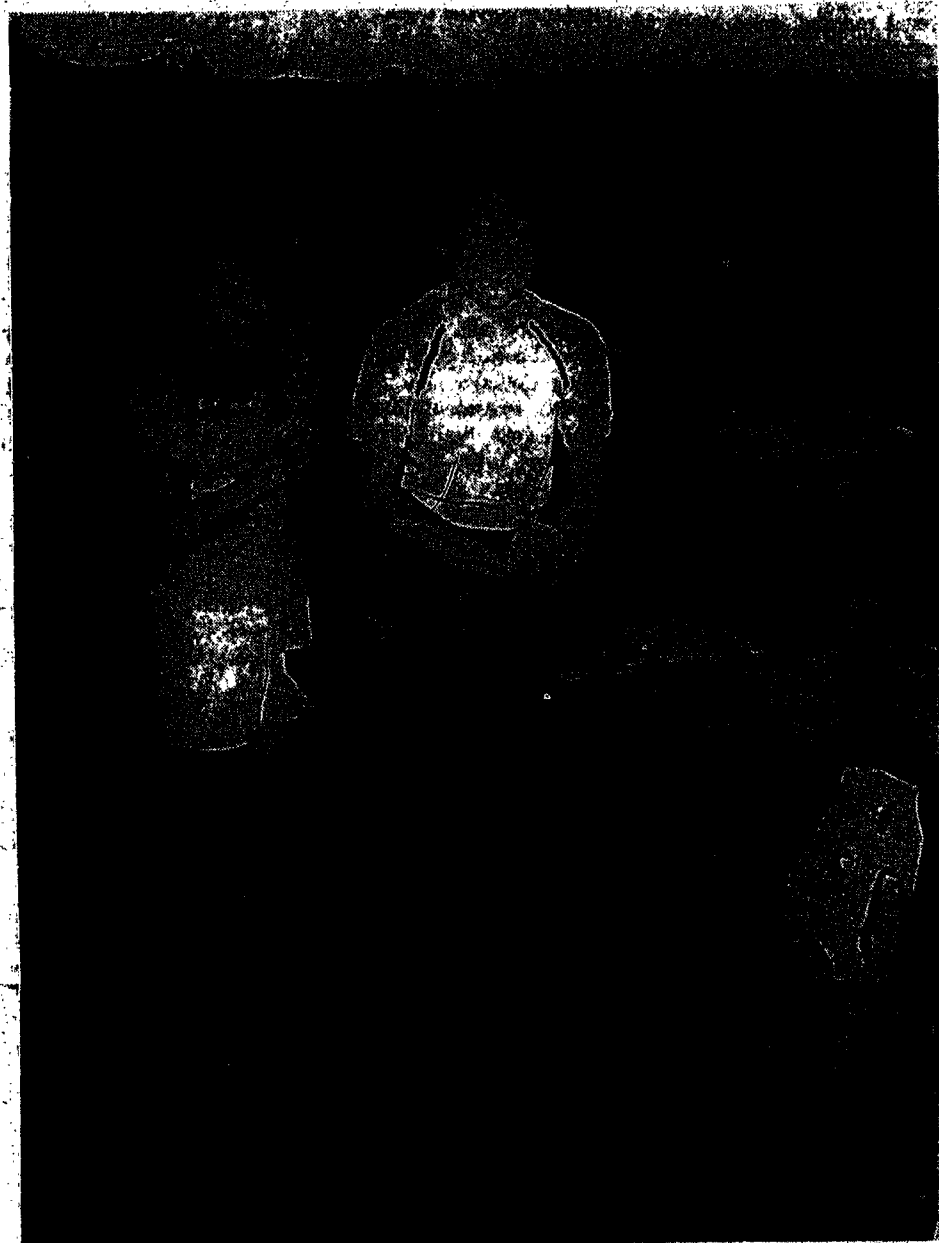

1/4 c. salad oil
1/4 c. wine or other vinegar
2 Tbsp. lemon juice
1 Tbsp. minced onion
1/2 tsp. dill weed, optional
Dashes of salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce, paprika
1/2 tsp. sugar, optional
1 bunch fresh broccoli, cleaned and broken into florets
1 head fresh cauliflower (or whole small head), same as above
1/2 to 3/4 lb. fresh green beans
1/2 pound carrots, scraped and sliced
Lettuce
Sliced tomatoes
Green onions and tops, sliced
Parsley

Bay High track teams sweep conference titles, move up to district meets today

By BRENT MACEY
With the Deep South Conference Championship under their belts, the Bay High School boys and girls track teams will head to the District Eight Class A Championships in Moss Point today in hopes of making another clean sweep in that competition.

This is the sixth year in a row that the girls track team, coached by William (Zeke) Bradley, has captured the conference championship. The girls have won the conference title 11 times in the past 13 years.

For the boys' team, the victory at Gulf Coast Junior College marked the second conference championship in two years.

Boys' Head Coach Snuffy Smith noted this is the first year of the Deep South Conference Championships. In previous years the teams have competed in the Pascagoula River Conference.

Smith commended senior Adrian Saucier, who paced the boys team to the conference victory.

Saucier won the two mile run, the 440 yard dash and the 880 yard run.

His times respectively were 10 minutes 51 seconds, 51.8 seconds, and 2 minutes and five seconds.

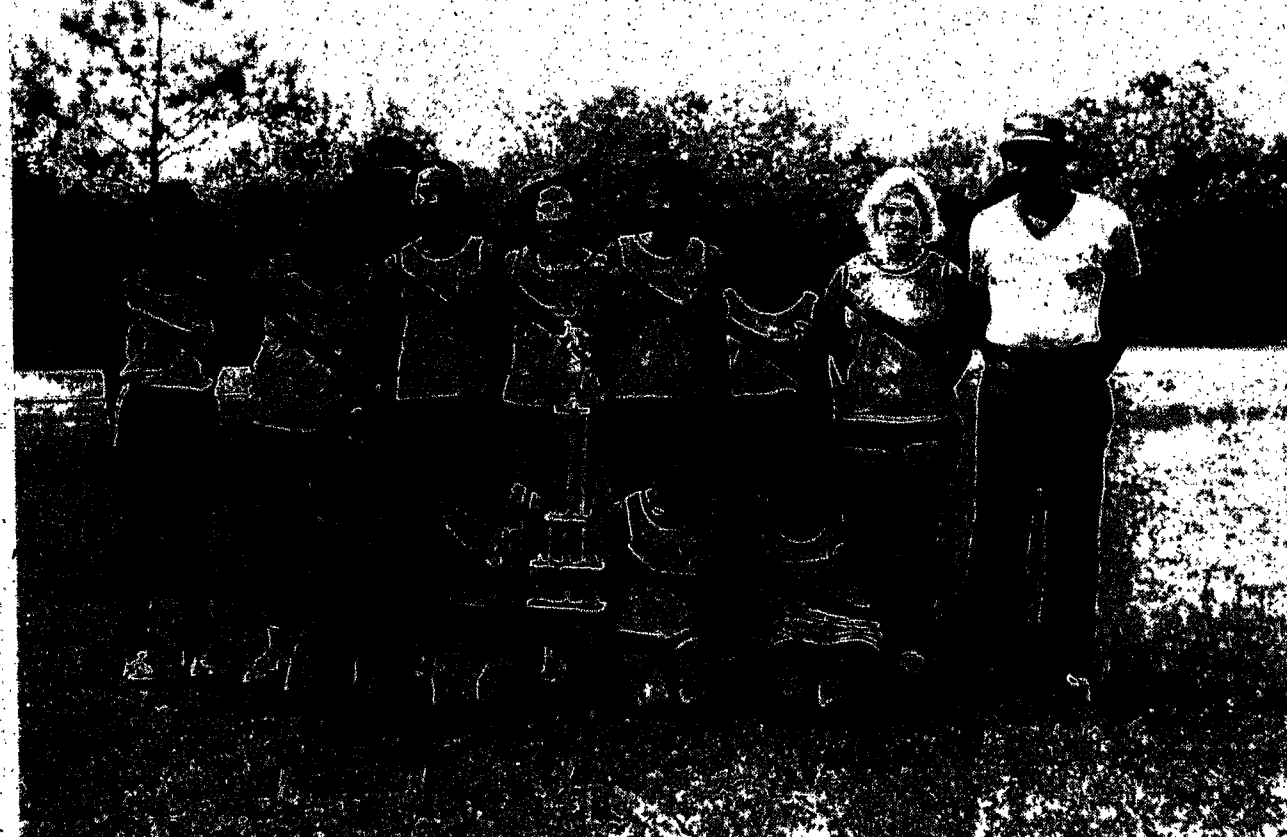

In previous competition Saucier ran the two miles in 10 minutes and 40 seconds, setting a new school record in that event.

Teammate Trellis Harvey also fared well in conference competition. Harvey's leap of 20 feet four inches gave the Tigers first place in the long jump competition.

Help Your Heart

American Heart Association

Benefits of Exercise

If you are one of the many Americans who recently started exercising — or even if you are only considering it — you probably want to know what the experts now say about the benefits of exercise.

Physical activity may protect you against coronary heart disease and may improve your likelihood of surviving a heart attack, the American Heart Association's Subcommittee on Exercise and Cardiac Rehabilitation said in a report published recently in Circulation, one of the AHA's journals.

And exercise may help people control their cigarette smoking, high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol, diabetes, obesity and emotional stress — all of which are factors that may increase the risk of developing coronary heart disease, said the committee, which includes some of the top exercise experts in the United States.

In its report, the AHA committee cited studies which suggest that men working in physically demanding jobs or performing strenuous recreational activities have less coronary heart disease during middle age. When present, coronary heart disease appears to be less severe and occurs later in life in physically active men than in physically inactive men.

Help your heart! The committee encouraged individuals of all ages to develop a physically active lifestyle. It recommended walking, hiking, stair climbing, jogging, running, bicycling, swimming and other active sports.

Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo to honor state agency

The 34th annual Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, scheduled July 1-4 from Robert L. Rice Pavilion in Gulfport, will be dedicated to the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation.

Jack L. Dedeaux, rodeo president, said Wildlife Conservation Executive Director Lon Strong has assented to having the 34th annual "world's largest" fishing tournament dedicated to the conservation department.

"Each year we strive to have a theme that relates to an industry beneficial to the state," Dedeaux said.

"This year our board of directors selected the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation to honor, since all fishing in Mississippi comes under its jurisdiction."

In a written reply to Dedeaux's request, Strong said, "On behalf of our five-member commission, let me say that the department would be pleased to be honored by having the upcoming 1982 rodeo dedicated to the Department of Wildlife Conservation."

"I am instructing the various members of my staff to cooperate with you and other rodeo officials in whatever way we can make this the best rodeo ever."

Dedeaux noted the Bureau of Marine Resources, a branch of the conservation department with offices in Long Beach, will again have a display booth at the pavilion during the 1982 rodeo.

Divine Word Brothers, Bernard Dorade, SVD, and Thomas Joseph, SVD, will celebrate their 25th anniversary as brothers in the Society of the Divine Word at 9 a.m. Mass of Thanksgiving in the St. Augustine Seminary chapel in Bay St. Louis Sunday, April 25.

Brother Bernard, originally from Panama, and Brother Thomas, originally from Belize, began their preparation for the missionary brotherhood at St. Augustine's in 1953 and 1954, respectively.

Both men made their religious profession in 1958 and served at the seminary in various capacities.

Brother Bernard worked in the seminary office as well as serving as a skillful book binder for many years. After eight years he was assigned to Divine Word Seminary, Riverdale, where he served in several capacities for 15 years, caretaker of the grounds, mechanic, and staff member of the youth summer camp.

He taught Christian Doctrine classes in the neighboring parishes and was active in the Cursillo and Marriage Encounter movements.

In 1980 he accepted a year's assignment to Panama where he assisted Father Gerald Lewis, SVD, pastor of San Carlos, in teaching grade and high school religion and ministering to 27 smaller towns.

Returning to Los Angeles, Brother Bernard serves in many diverse capacities at Verbum Dei High School.

After his religious profession, Brother Thomas Joseph was assigned to Divine Word Seminary, Bordertown, N.J., and a return to Duxbury before receiving his present position at St. Peter Claver parish, Asbury, N.J. in 1980.

At St. Peter's he is involved in pastoral and catechetical instruction and youth ministry.

Both Brothers Bernard and Thomas attended the Divine Word Tertiate program in Nemi, Italy in 1973. Friends of Brothers Bernard and Thomas are cordially invited to the Mass and reception which will follow.

Flowering tobacco plants to be available

Mississippi will have a tobacco this summer that the Surgeon General has not determined to be dangerous to health.

In fact, a Mississippi State University horticulturist says it may even bring joy and a healthy outlook on life for some Mississippians. The tobacco plant, is the Tame Nicotiana or flowering tobacco.

Jim Perry, a horticulturist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service, says the tall nicotiana dates back to grandmother's youthful days in Mississippi and offers a sweet, night fragrance.

"The Nicotiana is not entirely new, even though it has been tamed as part of the 'Nicki' series of flowers from the Pan-American Seed Co.," Perry says. "One variety, 'Nicki Red,' has gained new acclaim by winning the All-America Selections Award."

Perry says the flower comes in five colors, and grows uniformly 16 to 18 inches high. He says the plants make a good alternative to plant where petunias have become troublesome.

"The 'Nicki' series does well in both light shade or full sun and they provide a welcome fragrance, too," Perry says. "Seed is available from mail order nurseries and bedding plants may be on sale in garden centers around the state soon."

AD PRICE ROLLBACK
Turner Broadcasting System Board Chairman R. E. Turner reports that TBS will grant an additional benefit of advertising time to the Chevrolet Motor Division and all other General Motors Divisions who are advertisers on Atlanta's WTBS and Cable News Network in 1982.
The Turner announcement follows a recent request by GM Board Chairman Roger Smith that suppliers grant GM a two percent price rollback.
"We've talked with GM's various advertising agencies, and are happy to make this commitment," said Turner. "The U.S. auto industry is in trouble, and we feel everybody should be pitching in to help. I would hope the other networks feel the same way."
Chevrolet has signed a multi-year agreement with TBS for exclusive automobile sponsorship of NCAA football in 1982 and 1983, in addition to commitments in other programs.

PUBLIC NOTICES

BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW

The Board of Supervisors took up the matter of issuance of the Industrial Development Revenue Bonds of Hancock County, Mississippi, in the principal amount not to exceed Fifty Million Dollars ($50,000,000). After a discussion of the subject, Supervisor Ladner offered and moved the adoption of the following resolution:

RESOLUTION DECLARING THE INTENTION OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, TO ENTER UPON AN INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT PROJECT AND TO ISSUE INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT REVENUE BONDS OF SAID COUNTY IN THE PRINCIPAL AMOUNT NOT TO EXCEED FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS ($50,000,000) FOR SUCH PURPOSE, AND DIRECTING THE PUBLICATION OF NOTICE OF SUCH INTENTION.

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi (the "Governing Body"), acting for and on behalf of said Hancock County, Mississippi (the "Issuer"), does hereby find, determine and adjudicate as follows:

1. The Issuer is a municipality as defined in Chapter 147, General Laws of Mississippi, Regular Session 1960, as amended, appearing as Title 57, Chapter 3 of the Mississippi Code of 1972 (the "Act").

2. On March 1, 1982, this Governing Body, as authorized by the Act, adopted a resolution making application to the Mississippi Board of Economic Development (the "Board") for a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity (the "Certificate") authorizing the Issuer to acquire, own and lease a Project as hereinafter defined and to issue its industrial development revenue bonds to finance said Project;

3. To receive an application, students should send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with a note stating their name, address, city, state, zip code and approximate grade point average.

Fifty award winners will be selected on the basis of academic performance, involvement in extracurricular activities and the need for financial aid.

Bay French students take national honors

Five Bay High students are among ten students from the Gulf Coast to receive certificates of honor in the Mississippi Division of the 1982 National French Test, Level I.

One Bay High senior also received a certificate of honor on Level II of the national competition.

Awards were won by sophomores Dianne Tenney, Mary Langenbacker, Stephanie Power, and Donna LaScola; junior Dana Favre; and senior Tammy Johnston. Dianne Tenney placed fifth in Mississippi on Level I.

This year marked the 50th anniversary to the National French Test, administered in March to approximately 50 million French students throughout the United States.
